

Quiet Ledger

Ink recedes. Structure holds. The figure speaks.

A ruling system for the three documents the long-term desk issues. Importance is carried by position, never by size; contrast is achieved by withdrawal. Groups breathe. Rows inside a group sit close, separated by a hairline so fine it reads as a change of tone. What is identical between things being compared is stated once and removed from the field.

HOW TO READ THIS

- A Costs the least to close and the most each month. The right choice if you may sell or refinance inside five years.
- B Costs $8,438 more at closing and saves $127 a month. You are ahead after 67 months — five years and seven months.
- C Costs $13,125 more at closing and saves $220 a month. You are ahead after 60 months — five years — and the rate adjusts after that.

- These prices expire in 72 hours — good through 3 September 2026, 1:30 pm ET. This is a working comparison, not an offer: there is nothing to sign here. Tell us which option you want and we will issue a term sheet for it.

Every field the engine holds,

Thirty-six fields reach the export. One — the credit score the loan was priced on — has never appeared on any of the three documents. A DSCR loan is priced on leverage, coverage and credit; the sheets showed two of the three.

FIELD	TERM	COMP.	SCEN.	WHERE IT SITS, AND WHY
Borrower / entity	H	H	H	Header. The entity is the obligor; the person is the guarantor.
Property address	H	H	H	Header, one line. Never repeated lower down.
Property type · units	H	H	H	Header sub-line. Units printed only above one.
County · state	H	H	H	Header sub-line. Fills from the ZIP; blank on a split ZIP.
Property value	H	S	S	Header on a term sheet; shared strip when comparing.
Loan purpose	L	S	S	The loan. Identical across options, so shared when comparing.
Programme	L	C	—	Column heading on a comparison — it IS the thing being compared.
Loan amount	F	S	D	Hero. Shared on a comparison; the CHANGED input on a scenario.
Loan to value	L	S	D	Same — cause, not effect, so it sits above the results.
Term · interest-only	F	S	S	Hero note. Interest-only stated in words, never implied.
Interest rate	F	C	C	Hero. The first compared row.
Prepayment	L	S	S	The loan. Shared — it rarely differs between options.
Escrow waiver	L	S	S	Printed only when waived. Silence means impounded.
Credit score	L	S	S	NEW. Priced on it, never printed. The third leg of the pricing.
Principal & interest	P	—	—	Payment block. Rolled into the total when comparing.
Taxes · insurance · dues	P	S	S	Payment block. Dues shown only above zero.
Total monthly payment	P	K	K	The key compared row. Ivory ground, heavier weight.
Monthly rent	P	S	S	Payment block; shared when comparing.
Debt-service coverage	P	C	C	Derived from the total printed above it, never restated.
Origination fee · points	X	S	C	Closing. Shared on a comparison; differs by loan size.
Application · commitment fee	X	S	S	Closing. Fixed, so stated once when comparing.
Cost to get this rate	X	C	C	Closing. Points paid or credited — the real trade.
Lender charges, net	X	—	—	Closing. Folded into cash to close when comparing.
Down payment	X	—	—	Closing. Implied by loan and value when comparing.
Cash to close	F	K	K	Hero, and the second key compared row.
Break-even	—	C	—	Comparison only. Meaningless between different loans.

Considered and left off. Occupancy — every one of these is non-owner-occupied, so a row saying so is a row saying nothing. Reserves — a vendor input, not a borrower fact. Debt yield and cash-on-cash — the engine does not compute them, and a document must never carry a figure the system cannot stand behind.

Never on any of the three. The investor behind the price. Our compensation, in any form. The raw price before compensation. Points expressed without their dollars. These are facts about us, and they belong on the staff record.
